LOUISIANA FLIER KILLED IN CHINA

Walter Kent, Seven Passengers Shot Out Of Air By Japanese

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Walter C. Kent of Kentwood, La., pilot, and seven Chinese passengers were killed when a passenger air liner of the China National Aviation Corporation was shot down by Japanese warplanes, an official announcement said today.

Two other Chinese passengers and the Chinese co-pilot and hostess survived.

The plane, en route from Chungking to Kunming, fell near Chanyi, 80 miles from Kunming.

Kent, who would have been 35 years old Thursday, was a graduate of Sewanee University, Tennessee, trained at Brooks and Kelly Fields, Texas, and joined the China National Aviation Corporation in the summer of 1937.

He is survived by his widow, the former Marie Brown, American-born resident of Shanghai, and their son, Peter, 3. Mrs. Kent is in Hongkong and had planned to depart by clipper for the United States on Friday. She cancelled her passage because of her husband's death.

Kent's plane was similar to one shot down in August, 1938, in the only other previous Japanese attack on one of the line's ships.

THINK PHONE WIRES OF JUSTICES TAPPED

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Counsel for a senate subcommittee investigating wire-tapping said today that hearings would be started in Washington Friday to determine whether the wires of United States supreme court justices were tapped when an important decision was pending.

William Power Maloney, the counsel, mentioned October, 1938, as the time of the reported tapping but he did not specify the case in which a decision was expected.

The hearings, held by a subcommittee of the senate interstate commerce committee, will take place in the senate office building.

Heard Their Son's Number Called First

As Secretary of War Stimson drew number 158 in the national draft lottery and announced it, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bell, on left and right, recognized the number as being that of their son, Robert, 21. Mr. Bell called out and photographers hurriedly snapped the parents with Draft Director Clarence Dykstra, in center, and the capsule which held the youngster's draft call order number.

Along The Draft Front

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Two veterans of the Associated Press who participated in the association's coverage of the draft in 1917 flashed the first draft number of 1940 to AP member papers.

Harold Oliver, Washington staff writer, sat in the departmental auditorium and dictated the first number by telephone as it was announced by President Roosevelt. In the Associated Press bureau here, Martin [illegible] received the flash for transmission.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Hundreds of the bright blue capsules which held the numbers in the national conscription lottery were carried away today for souvenirs.

But the numbers themselves, hand-stamped on tiny strips of cardboard, were [illegible] to big cards, holding 250 each, to become a part of the permanent selective service records in the national archives.

Men who drew numbers took the empty capsules home with them. Girl clerks who aided in the drawing filled the pockets of their suits and occasionally tossed some to nearby spectators.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Maybe 13 isn't so unlucky, after all.

It didn't emerge from the selective service lottery bowl until shortly before 9 o'clock Tuesday night and was the 3,519th number drawn.

Registrants who were assigned some of the other numbers long favored by the superstitious likewise found they were drawn far down on the list of priority in which men may be considered for military service.

No. 7 was the 6,078th number drawn. No. 11 was 5,683rd in order and 99 was 5,555th.

Some others and the order numbers they became: No. 2—6,419; No. 3—3,856; No. 10—4,334.

Serial number 1 was drawn from the bowl nearly eight and a half hours after the lottery began to become order number 3,479. No. 9,000, the highest number in the bowl, came out five and a half hours later as order number 6,553.

The first was 158; the final one drawn from the bowl was 2,114.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—National headquarters emphasized today that selective service eligibles who volunteer for a year's training at once may defer the calling out of some registrants in the order determined by the lottery.

Each man who volunteers will go to the head of his local board list, if accepted, thereby delaying the induction of some other man who normally would be called.

Officials believe that the bulk of the first [illegible] men to be inducted into service by midwinter will be volunteers between 18 and 36. Men may volunteer to their draft board for a year's training regardless of their place on the board's list.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The missing six numbers in the conscription lottery and two extra ones were found an hour and a half after the main drawing was completed, and a "mop-up" drawing was held with the following results:

Order No.	Serial No.
8,995	6,542
8,996	7,492
8,997	7,665
8,998	1,055
8,999	5,108
9,000	6,771
9,001	1,855
9,002	7,839

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—One-fifth of the first 100 numbers drawn in the draft lottery, for all immediate purposes, were simply "blanks."

Each of those 20 numbers was above the highest number held by any registrant. The highest reported to national headquarters was 7,836, given to the top man in an area near Baltimore.

An additional 1,164 numbers were included in the lottery to cover men who may register later and consequently get serial numbers higher than any reported before the drawing.

Those extra numbers appeared with high frequency in the first 100 drawn. Whereas some 11 extra numbers were expected on the average, in each 100, there were 20 in the first 100.

That factor complicated all efforts to compute a formula by which a man might determine the approximate order in which he would be called to

Life May Be Developing On Venus, Scientist Finds

By Stephen J. McDonough
(Associated Press Science Writer)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—One of the world's outstanding scientists thinks the story of creation may be unfolding anew on the planet Venus.

Dr. H. Spencer Jones, astronomer royal of Great Britain, says in a review published by the Smithsonian Institution there is strong evidence that rudimentary forms of life, such as tiny plants and sea animals, are developing on the earth's nearest neighbor in the heavens.

From visual observations, studies of photographs and analysis with the spectrograph, the instrument which breaks up light into its rainbow of colors and photographs them, it appears that conditions on Venus today are approximately those which prevailed on the earth about one billion years ago when geologists say the first living things were beginning to appear in the slime of the sea shores.

Dr. Jones adds that there is some evidence also that life might exist in some form on the satellites of stars similar to our sun. But they are in distant galaxies of space and no telescope exists which could give even approximate proof.

Life might also be assumed to exist on other planets near the 60,000,000,000 stars of our own milky way galaxy, he added, but the chances are remote because the formation of a planet by the possible eruption of a giant mass of gas from the parent sun and its gradual development into an earth-like body happens only once in about 5,000,000,000 years.

The spectrographic studies show that there is little water on the cloud-shrouded planet Venus and very little oxygen but much more carbon dioxide than exists on earth. Carbon dioxide is absorbed by plants and, with the aid of chlorophyll, the green coloring matter, and sunlight, is converted into energy, giving off oxygen into the air.

When life started on the earth there was probably plenty of carbon dioxide

WHERE TO FIND HELP IN DRAFT

Registrants Are Advised Who Will Help Fill Out Questionnaires

Chairmen of the local advisory committees today announced the locations where draft registrants may apply for assistance in filling out their questionnaires, which will be mailed out the latter part of the week.

For the city of Monroe, as announced by M. C. Redmond, committee chairman, white persons may apply to either M. C. Redmond, 304 Bernhardt Building, E. C. [illegible], Alvis Hotel, or Albert Marx, Southern Hardware Company, 108 Walnut. Negroes are to apply at the [illegible] Funeral Home, 107 Washington street.

Ouachita parish registrants outside the city of Monroe are requested by Murray Hudson, committee chairman, to report at either his office, 1000 Ouachita Bank Building, Monroe, or to Sam Humphries, 315 Wood street, West Monroe. Other members of the parish advisory committee are Sidney Freeman and Mose Perry.

Mr. Hudson stated that he had received a wire from Gus Blanchard, head of the manpower division, Selective Service Headquarters, Jackson Barracks, New Orleans, announcing the mailing of the questionnaires this week.

TWO CAPITAL CITIES TO ESCAPE BOMBS

Reinforced Troops Maintain Unbroken Line, Athens Declares

(By Associated Press)

A Rome radio broadcast asserted today that Italian troops had smashed 40 miles into Greece, capturing the town of St. Nicholas, but Athens reported that reinforced Greek fighters were holding an unbroken front under heavy artillery fire.

The Italian attacks, supported by planes and mountain guns, were said to be steadily intensifying.

Mussolini's high command, with unusual brevity, merely reported:

"Our troops have continued the advance into Greek territory, overcoming resistance of the enemy's rearguard."

By contrast with this 18-word report on the war with Greece, the Italian high command devoted 53 words to the Fascist campaign in Africa, noting mostly inoffensive actions about clay-hut outposts in the African desert.

Countering London denials as to "troop" landings, the British information office at Ankara, Turkey, announced British naval detachments had landed on the Greek isle of Crete and also on the island of Cephalonia, south of Corfu, in the Ionian sea.

Turkey kept official silence on her attitude toward the Italo-Greek conflict but the Turkish press described Turkey as "wholeheartedly with Greece" and said "Turkey, if need be, will know her duty to give all aid to Greece."

Turkish rail communications were interrupted, possibly due to troop movements.

Authoritative Fascist quarters in Rome acknowledged the Greeks were resisting stubbornly, but they denied that troops of the little Aegean kingdom had driven a counter-thrust into

J. FAIR HARDIN DIES WEDNESDAY MORNING OF WRECK INJURIES

SHREVEPORT, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Colonel J. Fair Hardin, 47, one of North Louisiana's best known attorneys and commanding officer of the 204th Coast Artillery (anti-aircraft), Louisiana national guard, died at a Minden sanitarium at 3:35 a.m. Wednesday from injuries received about 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning when his automobile overturned on Highway 80, nine miles east of Minden.

Colonel Hardin received a fracture of the skull, several broken ribs and a punctured lung in the accident. He never regained consciousness after the accident.

Blood transfusions given Tuesday to save Hardin's life were ineffective.

The body was brought here Wednesday morning. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

TWO ARRESTED WITH FISH LOAD

800 Pounds Of White Perch Seized By Conservation Agents

Two men were arrested and 800 pounds of white perch were seized by the Louisiana department of conservation in Richland parish early Wednesday, Agent W. J. Disch announced.

The two men, charged with transportation and illegal possession of the fish, were taken to Rayville where they posted bonds of $250 each, Agent Disch said.

The fish were probably being taken to Memphis for commercial sale, according to the officer. They had been caught in a seine, he added.

"We are going to break this practice up if we possibly can," Mr. Disch said. "Trapping of game fish in seines is a strict violation of the law."

The fish were brought to Monroe and distributed to three institutions by Agent Disch. The Baptist Children's Home was given 300 pounds, Louisiana Training Institute 450 pounds and 50 pounds to the Home of the Good Samaritan.

LEAGUE STATEMENT

Laigh C. Parker, head of the Ouachita unit of the Louisiana Sportsmen's League, issued the following statement after the arrest of the two men for illegal possession of game fish:

"The Ouachita parish chapter of the Louisiana Sportsmen's League has an opportunity today to congratulate an agent of the conservation department for his alertness in enforcing the conservation laws of the state, with respect to the prosecution of those guilty

Registrants Are Warned On Numbers

Cautioned Against Believing Washington Action Is Final

Registrants are again cautioned that the order number assigned their serial number in Washington is not the final number to determine the order in which they will be called.

The order number on the national master list is in reality the "drawing number." As explained in the note preceding the numbers listed elsewhere, the highest serial number in Ouachita parish is 4134. Thus the Ouachita parish list does not include numbers above 4134. Numbers elsewhere in the nation do exceed 4134 and skips in the local list indicate that higher serial numbers were drawn in Washington and assigned order numbers which are not shown in the tabulation.

For instance, Ouachita parish registrants were affected by the national master list order numbers 1 and 2. However, the next local serial number drawn was under order number 19. The local boards will revise the order numbers when the master list is received and the person whose serial number was assigned order number 19 in Washington will be moved up to order number 3 here, and that is the order in which he will be called.

To determine the order number he will receive from the local boards, a registrant may count down the list until his serial number is reached. If his serial number is 25th on the list, that is the order number to be assigned by the local boards, even if his national master list order number may be 153, for example.

SECRET PAPERS IN UNIT SWEPT BY EARLY FIRE

15 Firemen Overcome By Escaping Gas Battling Capital Flames

OPEN INVESTIGATION

Seek To Determine If Saboteur Responsible For Incident

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Fire swept through a newly-built fourth floor of the war department-munitions building early today and almost at once a special army board set to work to determine whether an accident, carelessness or a saboteur was responsible.

Valuable documents, some of them secret, were housed in the Constitution avenue buildings damaged by a roaring fire that broke out at about 4 a.m.

Secretary Stimson was quoted as saying he believed a short circuit in the electrical wiring, or a cigarette, was to blame. There was no public mention of sabotage from official quarters.

Intelligence officers and fire marshals began an investigation of the cause, as soon as the massed fire equipment of the District of Columbia brought the flames under control in a struggle lasting more than an hour.

Secretary of the Navy Knox, whose department is a war department neighbor, said at his press conference that Secretary of War Stimson had expressed a belief the fire "unquestionably" was caused by a short circuit or a cigarette.

While the investigation went on, firemen already tired from their efforts at the war department's building—a structure built in World war days as a "temporary" building—were called to another blaze at the Lewis hotel training school on Washington Circle. At this fire, which was confined mostly to the basement, 15 firemen were overcome by escaping gas. Four were hospitalized.

Major Edward French, in command of the message center in the building and the first officer to reach the scene,

MORE U. S. AID FOR ENGLISHMEN

Roosevelt Probably Will Announce Action In Speech Tonight

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TO BOSTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A major step to increase aid for Britain and her allies probably will be announced by President Roosevelt tonight in an address in Boston, a White House official indicated today.

ROOSEVELT SPEECH

President Roosevelt, who is expected to make an important announcement concerning further aid for Great Britain from the United States, will speak at 9:15 p.m. (CST) over a radio hookup.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, advised reporters to be on the watch for something along that line, but would give no hints as to the nature of the aid.

The secretary did warn them, however, not to "go overboard" on releasing what he called American "flying fortresses" to the British.

There had been speculation that the United States might turn over more destroyers to Britain or perhaps allow her a priority on airplane contracts.

Early left an impression that priorities might be involved, asserting that the new aid would not take away any existing equipment for the American armed forces.

BLIMPS ORDERED FOR NAVY PATROL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A $1,324,000 navy order for six new non-rigid "blimps" to be used for coast patrol and training work was announced today by Secretary Knox.

The contracts went to the Goodyear Aircraft Corporation, Akron, O., sole bidder. It called for delivery in about a year.

Captain Charles E. Rosendahl, a special assistant to the navy secretary, said the craft also could be used in war time to spot mines and combat submarines and to convoy merchant shipping.

Secretary Knox told his press conference the navy was acquiring "very rapidly" cargo carriers, oil tankers and other vessels for the fleet's train. Additions will be assigned to the fleet in Hawaiian waters, Knox said

Monroe Women Are Now Busily Engaged

Women Of Twin Cities Are Now Actively Engaged In Affairs Of Widespread Interest

There is no place for drones in today's scheme of things. They wander around "lonely as a cloud," looking for a foursome for day-time bridge or a companion to share with them their idle hours. The energetic ones are busily engaged in the thousand and one tasks set for women's hands these days. There is a load to lift and this is the time for all hands to share the task.

The women who are working shoulder to shoulder with the men in the Twin City Community Chest drive are perhaps the busiest of all at this particular time. They are making a house-to-house canvass and that means hours of hard work. In some homes they are graciously received and in others they find a less gracious welcome but it is all in the name of sweet charity and there is always a "God bless you" even for the unwilling giver.

Another group of women busily engaged at this time is Monroe's little band of artists who will observe National Art Week during the month of November by complying with the program mapped out by the National League. The national slogan is "American Art for the American Home." The aim is to sell American art at tempting prices, to open new doors to artist, and to encourage the public to make its own selections.

Members of the Monroe Art association who will take an active part in the program featuring National Art Week in Monroe feel that it is a warm-hearted and exciting venture and truly American in its optimism and its courage especially at this time when life is made up of grim realities.

The Monroe public will no doubt take great pride and pleasure in supporting the art of this city and will offer every encouragement to the artists who will exhibit their paintings during National Art Week.

The auxiliary of the Rodney J. Hobbs Post 1809 V. F. W., met in regular session with the president, Mrs. De Vera Blackwell, presiding.

Several business matters were taken care of at this time. One V. F. W. family reported in distress was given aid.

Mrs. Blackwell and Mrs. Agnew were appointed on a committee to see about Christmas stockings. Mrs. Emma H. Keen was elected trustee at this time. Mrs. Martha Logan was elected chaplain. Mrs. Helen Agnew was appointed secretary, and Mrs. Freeman was appointed color bearer.

Mrs. Herbert Norwood completed a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hudson, and returned to her home in Franklin accompanied by her mother, who will be her guest for several days.

Way "Build-Up" Helps Will Interest Women

The cause of a woman's periodic suffering from headache, irritability, cramp-like pain, may be functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition, a condition that is often helped by CARDUI.

Principal way CARDUI helps is by stimulating appetite and the flow of gastric juices. Thus it may aid digestion; help build up a woman's strength, energy and nerve-force; so increase physical resistance to periodic discomfort.

It also helps reduce periodic distress for many who take it a few days before and during "the time." Your confidence in CARDUI is invited by its 50 years of popularity.—Adv.

The Georgia Tucker P.-T. A. held their October meeting last Thursday with Mrs. Preston Fergus presiding.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. C. C. Rainwater who also gave an account of the meeting of the executive committee held the preceding Wednesday.

Mrs. Fergus read the national president's message and introduced Mrs. Fagan Cox, who announced that the P.-T. A. sectional meeting would be held during the teachers' convention in this city.

Miss Rogers spoke for five minutes on matters of interest to the mothers.

Mrs. H. R. Hodges gave an interesting report of the district meeting held at Tallulah.

Mrs. Olan Black, program chairman, introduced the speaker of the day. The following program was rendered:

"Active Participation as a Prerequisite to Good Citizenship"—Mrs. A. D. Tisdale.

"P.-T. A. in the Schools"—Mrs. Darwin Nichols.

"The Home's Responsibility"—Mrs. C. B. Braun.

The assemblage stood and gave the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

"God Bless America" was sung in unison.

The room count was taken and the two first grades taught by Mrs. A. R. Doughty and Miss Annie Windes tied for the prize.

A conversational hour followed and confections were served from a table cleverly decorated in Halloween colors.

The Rt. Rev. John Long Jackson, Bishop of Louisiana, visited St. David's Episcopal Church in Rayville on October 27th and held services of consecration and confirmation. As this was his first visit to St. David's a reception was held in his honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hunt.

After an enjoyable social hour the guests were served refreshments from a beautifully appointed table in the dining room. A lovely floral plaque served as a central decoration for the table where trays of delicious canapes and petit fours were placed for the convenience of the guests. Mrs. E. B. Green and Mrs. J. Y. Abraugh presided graciously over the silver coffee and tea urns placed at either end of the table.

Members of Grace Church, Monroe, from the Church of the Redeemer, Oak Ridge, and from the churches in Rayville were present to welcome Bishop Jackson on his first visit to Rayville.

How many young girls aged 10 to 18 serve their country in times of stress? Service bureaus to make available the talents and energies of the 700,000 Girl Scouts are the answer of that organization.

At the semi-annual meeting of the national board of directors last week Mrs. C. Vaughan Ferguson of Schenectady, N. Y., reported that many such bureaus already have been formed in various parts of the country and that others are to be organized shortly. Mrs. Ferguson has been appointed chairman of a special coordinating committee to aid in forming the bureaus.

These bureaus will cooperate with the Red Cross, community welfare organizations and other agencies to provide civic activities suited to the abilities of young girls. Collecting, mending and distributing clothing, gardening, preparing and canning foods, sewing, knitting and making bandages, caring for children and so freeing their mothers for other work are among the tasks assigned to the girls by the bureaus.

Mrs. Travis Marks entertained during the tea hour at her home on Jackson street complimentary to her niece, Miss Virginia Wilson of El Dorado, whose engagement and approaching marriage to Mr. Carl Flanery has just been announced.

Mrs. Marks placed urns of pink carnations in the living room where she introduced her niece who wore a black chiffon model with gold accessories and a corsage of white carnations, a gift from her fiance.

The tea table in the dining room overlaid with beautiful lace was developed in pink and green with a wide spreading plaque of pink carnations encircled with tall green tapers forming the central decor. Trays of confections including individual wedding cakes embossed in the initials W—F were placed along the board.

A distinct feature of the afternoon was the presentation of beautiful gifts of a personal nature to Miss Wilson, whose marriage will be a prominent event of November 17 in El Dorado.

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

by Rita Mohler Hanson

YESTERDAY: Lynn Britton has escaped from the two men who were taking her to the Prince of Shani Lun, who had in effect bought her in marriage. But now that she is with Americans in a town on China's Yellow River, even Americans she knew well in the States, she cannot quite down her interest in her captors—good, wise Shedock, and handsome Temu Darin. Her friend Peggy, and even Sam, to whom she had been engaged, seem a little tame to her.

Chapter 19

Temu Again

"LYNN seems to be that kind of person if she's the heroine I've been hearing about all afternoon," Sam interposed.

"What became of your brother?" Peggy asked.

"I suppose he's lost, too," said Lynn ambiguously.

Others interrupted them. Lynn's story had spread and enlarged and became a sensation among the foreigners in Lanfou. Added to this sensation had come rumors of international import.

A strange airplane was maneuvering about the territory illegally. One of the new low-wing monoplanes that was reported capable of piercing the stratosphere had dived down occasionally for observation. The first rumor made it a Japanese plane, another, a Russian, a third, a British, and a fourth had it that Chinese banditry had taken to the air.

The Chinese government had rushed in a couple of scouting ships to investigate. Agents of other nations were reported to have chartered private Chinese planes to do the same. Word came that British India had made arrangements to land aircraft on the eastern border of Tibet if necessary. There was talk of a Mohammedan uprising that had already begun in the north.

"It's like dancing while Nero fiddles," cried little Mrs. Wallace, shivering with happy excitement.

The clever man who was conducting the tourist party led Lynn to the floor. "Here's hoping something will happen," he said gloomily. "Does my party thank me for keeping them safe? They do not, even the old maids."

Lynn laughed. "You mean least of all the old maids."

"I've been tempted to hire river pirates to board this vessel to night."

"I daresay a little suffering and hardship would do your tourists good," Lynn agreed.

"And ruin me."

A tap on the gentleman's shoulder turned Lynn over to one of the Chinese aviators, the best dancer on the boat, she soon discovered. He was a very good-looking young man with large, intelligent eyes, perfect teeth, and a serious smile. Lynn surmised that the American college girl had done well in marrying him. She thought of Temu Darin and his master and asked abruptly, "Have you ever seen the Prince of Shani Lun?"

The young man shook his head. "No, I haven't. My government considers him a hard person to deal with. I've met his official representative, Temu Darin."

Lynn lost a step and recovered herself in a moment. "What do you think of Temu Darin?"

"He's an ace flying man; has the best luck in the air of anybody I ever heard of. The fellows say it's due to that horseshoe scar on his cheek. Aviators are a superstitious lot."

She smiled. "Superstition's like magic. There's both white and black." They danced a while in silence.

The Chinese tailor had made Lynn a gorgeous and striking dress of blue penoy brocade on a rose-leaf pink. She was the belle of the party and on the arm of the best dancer on the boat. The orchestra played a new and enticing tango. And, yet, she felt strangely lonely and restless in a feminine way. Lonely enough to cry for no reason at all.

Sudden Panic

HAD there been too much time for thinking since she arrived in Lanfou? She could not dismiss Temu Darin from the recesses of her mind. He, seemingly, had shown her the way to the region of the higher dimensions of space, and regardless of where she went or where she stayed, she still felt his disturbing presence at her side.

Then, too, not once since she had been in Asia had the dream of the lilac tree recurred to her. She felt the need of its emotional power which kept her true to some inner guidance.

They had stopped near the railing as the music ceased. Suddenly, Lynn turned pale and caught the railing for support. Then the color flooded her face and her chin went up. Mr. Wallace had stepped through the door from the boat saloon. He was not alone.

"Temu Darin!" breathed Lynn. Tall and straight in a dinner jacket and black tie, he did not look about the assemblage, but with his eyes straight ahead, followed Mr. Wallace across the deck to meet the plant specialist's wife. The Chinese aviator hastily excused himself to Lynn and went over to him. The twenty-odd people on deck had grown quiet and turned to stare discreetly.

Lynn could hear Mr. Wallace explaining in suppressed excitement. Temu Darin was an envoy from the Prince of Shani Lun; he had come downriver in a private junk on his way to Nanking. The host and one or two persons standing near were introduced.

The orchestra struck up again and gave Temu a moment's freedom. He turned and looked across at Lynn as if he had known all the time just where she stood. Their eyes held for a moment, straight and steady. Then Mrs. Wallace required his attention and after a moment he asked her to dance.

Sam came to Lynn for the dance, but she had sunk into a chair. She couldn't talk; she couldn't rise. He sat down beside her.

"Who's the battle-scarred hero?" he asked. Lynn shruged her shoulders. Sam soon became slightly sentimental about meeting her in this unexpected way, and he tried to pry an admission from her that she was sorry she had thrown him over. In a light unthinking manner she countered his suggestions and by the time the music ceased, she had regained her self-possession.

Mrs. Wallace brought Temu over and introduced him to Lynn. "I've told him your story," Mrs. Wallace added, her eyes shining with excitement.

"I think you are a very lucky girl to escape those bandits as you did," he said promptly.

"Luck seems to follow some people," she reminded him blandly.

His eyes flashed their amusement. "Yes indeed Miss Britton. Your horoscope was read by our greatest astrologers when the Prince first learned that you were to be his—" Lynn trembled for a moment; he looked reckless enough to say anything. "Guest" he finished. "May I have this dance?"

She hesitated for a moment, then slipped into his embrace. Lightly, expertly, they circled the floor in silence. Lynn knew for the first time what it meant to dance with a partner whose mind and spirit as well as his body complemented hers.

She became rhythm, losing all sense of identity and the passing of time. He smiled into her eyes and quietly thanked her, then acknowledged a presentation to Peggy.

As he danced with her, Lynn accepted Sam's second invitation. "You're dancing like an angel tonight," he told her.

"You mean a goddess."

He glanced at her shining eyes, her glowing cheeks. "I guess I do," he said huskily.

Quiet Conflict

TEMU had the next dance with Lynn. Afterwards, he drew her to the prow of the boat where various couples had sought seclusion. Every eye followed them, these two tall, handsome, exciting creatures.

"Won't we make ourselves conspicious by our absence?" she protested faintly.

"We have to talk and we can't seem to dance and talk."

Seated in a secluded corner, Lynn became objective-minded again. "You have courage," she said. "With a word I could have you put in chains or whatever it is they do with kidnappers in China."

"You'd have given the word when you first told your story if you'd wished me put in chains."

She withdrew her shoulder from its contact with his arm. "I've been a little sap."

"I'm of your people, Tara Lynn. You couldn't cause me harm any more than I could you." Something in the cadence of his low voice shook her nerves.

"Why did you come here?" she demanded.

"To ask you to finish our journey. The Prince is becoming impatient."

She clenched her hands. "I hate your Prince. My answer to him is no, no, and always no!" She paused, struck by a thought and looked into his face. "Does he threaten to kill you, Temu, if you do not succeed in bringing me?"

"He would cut out my heart." Yet, he smiled as he said it.

"What did he say when I escaped being added to his harem?

Temu grinned. "You are his harem, Tara Lynn. According to tradition you incarnated previously as two manifestations of the Tara, the green and the white; one, a king's daughter of Nepal, the other, a Chinese princess. He married you both; this time you come as one."

Lynn gave a short laugh. "At least, I'm becoming concentrated."

"You are all women in one."

She turned and looked at him. "Are you speaking for yourself or for the Prince?"

"True," he sighed, moving away a trifle, "I must not forget the Prince."

Lynn rose angrily. "You've asked me to go to Delun and I've given my answer. It is no!"

"I beg your pardon," he said stiffly, rising with her. "I won't mention the subject again."

"You are offended now," she murmured. "I don't mean to offend you. You are real. You are genuine. But these sinister white men who become tyrants in the colored parts of the world! I have heard some dreadful stories."

"I am sorry," he replied.

She gave him a swift look. "I see you are not; you are only angry." And she asked impishly, "Do you sometimes wish you could slap my face?"

The orchestra struck up a new melody. "Let's dance," he said abruptly, and they swung along to the waxed floor of the deck.

His arm tightened. "Don't think," it seemed to say. "Just feel that I am holding you close this minute." She obeyed. As the music died, she whispered, "Good night, Temu. I'm not dancing with you again."

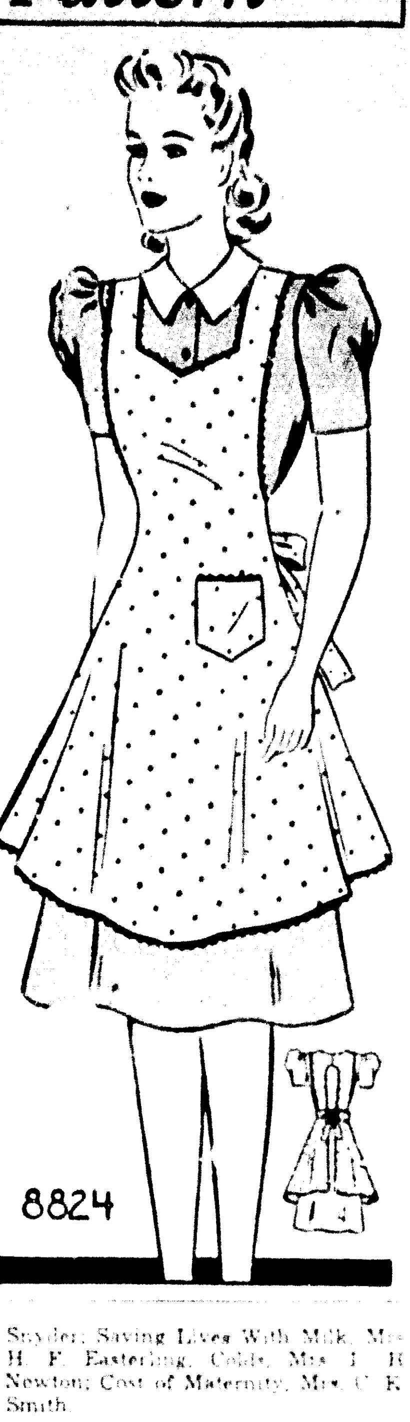
THOROUGHLY PRACTICAL APRON PATTERN 8824



Slip this apron on over your head; feel it settle itself comfortably so that the straps won't slip off the shoulder, no matter what you do; tie the sash bows in the back—and you'll know that you have on a practically perfect coverall. And besides all its useful virtues, it's a pretty thing to look at—slim at the waist, just enough flaring at the skirt, with bright outline of rickrack. Of course you can't slip it on and enjoy it until you send for the pattern (No. 8824) and make it. But that's easy. You can finish it in a few hours.

As a matter of fact you'll make it many, many times—not only for yourself but to give away, and to sell at church and club bazaars. Polka dot percale, checked gingham, flowered calico and plain chambray are nice apron cottons.

Pattern No. 8824 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 2⅜ yards of 35-inch material without nap; 7½ yards of rickrack braid.

For a PATTERN of this attractive model send 15c IN COIN. YOUR NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE, NUMBER and SIZE to the News-Star—World Today's Pattern Service, 106-7th Ave., New York, N. Y.

Have you seen the new Fall and Winter Fashion Book? Better send for it right away. You can plan your whole wardrobe from it, from morning frocks to formal ones. You can sew your own, with these simple, carefully planned patterns! Have more clothes—more individual clothes—and save money besides!

Pattern, 15c; pattern book, 15c; one pattern and pattern book ordered together, 25c.

Drs. Frost, Bendel Address Junior College Students On Disease

Speaking at Northeast Junior College assembly Wednesday, Dr. R. H. Frost declared that "it is better to spend money in prevention of tuberculosis than in its cure."

Dr. Frost, accompanied by Dr. William Bendel, spoke on the prevention of tuberculosis. They gave an informal discussion on the disease preparatory to a tuberculin test which will be given next week to all college students desiring to have them made.

Dr. Frost stated that it is unusual for tuberculosis to develop into anything serious after the first infection. In pointing out the advantages of the test, he said that it would enable the physician to recognize the disease in its early stages. He stated further that those who react positively to the test will be warned to have frequent examinations.

These tests for tuberculosis are not experimental, the speaker stated, adding that such tests have been used in hundreds of colleges over the nation.

Dr. Bendel referred to the great strides made in the prevention and cure of tuberculosis during the past 25 years.

"Perhaps this very fact has influenced the neglect of work with the disease," he declared.

Dr. Bendel stated that the disease kills more persons between 15 and 45 annually than any other disease and the chance is that three out of four persons will be in the advanced stages before they become very ill. The speaker added that there are approximately 200 persons who die daily over the nation from tuberculosis and that there are about nine persons who have the disease for every death.

Dean C. C. Colvert urged that all students have tests made so that the college might carry out its physical education program.

This test will be made possible by the college physician and the Ouachita Parish Tuberculosis and Public Health Association.

SCIENTIST FINDS LIFE EVIDENCE

present but little oxygen in the atmosphere and it was only after the supply of oxygen had been built up by rudimentary plants that fish, reptiles and other animals, including man, were able to develop, Dr. Jones said.

"Thus we seem to see in Venus a world where conditions are somewhat similar to those that the earth passed through millions of years ago. Any life on Venus can be, at the most, primitive plant life. It is possible that life may be in process of gradual development and that in millions of years to come, when life on earth may be nearing extinction, Venus may be the home of higher and higher types of life," he added.

Life on Mars is a more remote possibility, the British scientist said, but it is possible that millions of years ago a high order of life may have existed on the planet. Today neither oxygen nor water vapor can be detected in the Martian atmosphere, indicating that it is a planet where [illegible] tions, six number-bearing blue capsules were missing.

Selective service officials immediately instituted a check to track down the omitted numbers. Manual records kept throughout the marathon drawing confirmed the number of missing numbers as six. The master list disagreed, however, showing eight unaccounted for.

To make sure that every number missing from the master list would be drawn, General Hershey had a special "junior drawing" of those eight numbers—a brief sweepstakes witnessed by a handful and over in 5 minutes.

The official last number drawn accordingly was the 9,002nd—number 7,839.

The "junior drawing" epilogue made the total elapsed time for the actual drawing 17 hours and 36 minutes, a much slower performance than the first World War draft in 1917 when 10,500 numbers were picked in 16 hours and 29 minutes.

In the event the dubious two among the eight "missing" numbers should turn up earlier in the drawing lists, the result of the "junior draw" will be disregarded as far as they are concerned. No clues were immediately uncovered as to how the missing numbers vanished from the bowl.

Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, selective service director, who saw the lottery through from the drawing of the first number, 158, to the unscheduled end, issued this statement at the finish:

"Today we have witnessed an unprecedented event in our peacetime [illegible] the development of an orderly machine for the calling of a vast [illegible]

Hollywood Notes

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 30.—(AP)—How would you like to be a movie producer, making your first picture at the age of 29?

You have no fortune of your own, say, but you've managed to impress eastern bankers sufficiently for them to back you to the extent of $500,000.

You've purchased the film rights to a best-selling novel. You've signed up a director and some actors.

You have to induce these workers to do things your way, though you're just a beginner—"just a greenhorn kid," they say—and you have to make sure that this first picture makes money. You are determined that it also will be outstanding artistically.

That's the predicament of 29-year-old Bob Sherwood.

Bob, when he was graduated from a Los Angeles High school, went into radio, as an announcer, producer, director, writer and actor.

Seven years ago he scraped together $500 and made a two-reel Chinese phantasy drama, using his own friends as actors and Los Angeles' Chinatown as a set. A producer saw the film and offered the 22-year-old Sherwood a job.

Sherwood decided to remain in radio. Two years ago he read the manuscript of a new novel, Charles Bonner's "Legacy," a story of the fortune of a New England family over a 20-year period, and bought it. He signed Warner Baxter as a star and Gregory Ratoff as director, and armed with these commitments went to New York to seek financial backing.

"Getting financial support is, of course, the greatest problem facing a new producer," says Sherwood, "and first you must have a property. You can't do a thing without a property."

Baxter, Ratoff and the story provided such substantial "property" that Sherwood soon was able to lease studio space, hire his own production and business staffs and engage as additional players Fay Wray, Ingrid Bergman, Susan Hayward and Johnnie Downs.

After months of preliminaries, the picture is underway. Sherwood's worries have started in earnest. A major problem, he confesses, is that of personalities: adjusting differences, preventing clashes.

Sherwood declined to go into detail, but a studio observer pointed out that Ratoff is fiery, quick-tempered; Baxter, with years of acting experience, is set in his ways. Miss Wray has been known in the past to exhibit flashes of temperament. Sweden's Miss Bergman, who has appeared in this country in only one other film, is still unaccustomed to American ways. Downs, normally a singer and dancer, has a difficult part. And Miss Hayward, who has been entrusted with a pivotal role, has appeared previously in only three pictures.

Tall, thin and red-haired, Sherwood often is confused with the playwright of the same name.

"Youth is a handicap in this business," he admits, "in that it's hard to get people to take you seriously.

"But time, wrinkles and gray hair will take care of that. I'm aging fast."

YOUTH FACES LIFE FOR DOUBLE KILLING

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Gerald Stewart, 15-year-old schoolboy, faced life imprisonment today for the shotgun slayings of his aged grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stewart, at their farm home in the Rhea's Mill community 20 miles southwest of here last July 11.

A circuit court jury convicted the boy of first degree murder and fixed his sentence at life for the slaying of the 74-year-old grandfather. He was not tried on a similar charge based on the death of his 71-year-old grandmother.

VARIED CLAIMS IN NEW FIGHT

Albania, the starting point of the Italian invasion Monday.

These quarters said Mussolini's legions were advancing deeper into Greece without encountering "serious military difficulties."

Great Britain stepped up aid to her new ally, the London admiralty announced, by mining approaches to key ports on the Greek coast, notably in the Gulf of Aegina which guards Piraeus, the port of Athens.

Other mine fields were sown in the gulfs of Patras and Corinth and in the waters lying north of Crete along the east coast of the Peloponnesus.

British military circles denied reports that British troops have already landed on the Grecian isles of Corfu and Crete, following a cast of Rome dispatches saying Italian troops had also landed at Corfu and were fighting the British.

Amid sparse reports of actual fighting, evidently trimmed by a heavy censorship on both sides, Athens reported that the Italians were striking hard into the western sector of Greece's defenses in a drive apparently aimed at Ioannina (Janina) some 30 miles from the Greek-Albanian frontier.

The Greek high command said briefly that "the situation remains unchanged" along the upper half of the battlefront, in Western Macedonia, where Alexander the Great started his march to the conquest of ancient Persia.

Neutral military sources in Athens said the Greek advance guards were slowly retiring to the main defense sectors of the Metaxas line in keeping with a preconceived plan. There, it was expected, the Greeks would make their "do or die" stand.

While Europe's chancelleries anxiously awaited some definite word from Moscow on Russia's intentions in the Balkan struggle, the Soviet army newspaper, "Red Star," declared the British fleet was master of the Eastern Mediterranean and forecast a long, hard battle between the Greek-British allies and Italy.

As Britain moved to aid Greece, semi-official quarters in Berlin intimated Turkey soon may receive an ultimatum similar to that which preceded Italy's invasion of Greece.

Turkey followed the conflict closely, but there still was no sign that she planned to abandon her neutrality.

There were indications that the Italian drive into Greece was only the forerunner of a large scale Mediterranean campaign, involving acceleration of the Fascist drive eastward into Egypt from bases already 60 miles inland, and an axis move against Gibraltar.

General Jose Varela, Spanish minister of war, was expected to take off by plane from Seville today en route to Spanish Africa and the Canary Islands on a mission linked to the recent conversations between Spain's chief of state, Generalissimo Francisco Franco and Adolf Hitler.

German air raiders continued to strike at England during the night, but London had long intervals of quiet before the assaults finally tapered off before dawn.

The British air ministry reported that despite adverse weather the Royal Air Force again had "attacked a number of targets in Germany, including some in the Berlin area" overnight. The Nazis acknowledged British raiders had flown over Northern Germany, but said none had reached Berlin.

army service. In making up a list of men in the order in which they will be considered, local draft boards will disregard the extra numbers.

OAK GROVE, Oct. 30.—(Special)—"All the family I have is one man, and he is in the service of the United States army," Buck Parish, 67, Spanish-American war veteran of Oak Grove, told draft officials. "I want to go to the army."

"I may not be able to use one of these new fangled rifles, but I have an old single-barrel and it is well oiled," he said. "I am quite sure the army could find some place for me if it is only growing food, but if there is war I had rather be in the fighting."

RUSTON, Oct. 30.—(Special)—Funeral services for J. J. Spencer, 83, who died Thursday, were held Friday afternoon at his residence, eight miles southwest of Ruston, with Rev. W. F. Henderson, pastor of the Clay Methodist church, officiating. Interment followed in the Wesley Chapel Cemetery.

Mr. Spencer, who was born in Alabama and came to this parish over 75 years ago, was one of its oldest citizens. He is survived by his widow and one son, Rufo Spencer, Simsboro.

Grandsons of Mr. Spencer served as pallbearers.

JAMES MONROE HORNE

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 30.—(Special)—Funeral services for James Monroe Horne, 79, father of Mrs. Leo Fleming, Monroe, were conducted from the Wright and Ferguson Funeral Home here Wednesday morning. Interment was in the Fannin Cemetery with Dr. B. M. Hunt, pastor of the Capitol Methodist Church, officiating.

A native of Rankin county, Miss., and prominent resident of Jackson, Mr. Horne died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Tom Coor, here early Tuesday morning.

Mr. Horne is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Tom Coor and Mrs. M. C. Hardy, Jackson; Mrs. W. H. Vallely and Mrs. R. S. Smith, Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. Leo Fleming, Monroe, and five brothers, A. L. Horne, B. F. Horne, C. E. Horne and W. J. Horne, Jackson, and L. M. Horne, Laurel, Miss.

Pallbearers, grandsons of Mr. Horne, were J. W. Byrd, Sam T. Coor, A. D. Coor, H. L. Coor, M. C. Hardy, Jr., and W. C. Horne, Jr.

R. D. JOBE

FERRIDAY, Oct. 30.—(Special)—Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon in Newellton for R. D. Jobe, 40-year-old automobile mechanic of Ferriday and Vidalia, who died in Natchez Sunday morning following an operation at the Natchez Hospital.

Interment was in Newellton, with the Rev. S. A. Holt officiating.

Mr. Jobe, a native of Mississippi, had been living here and in Vidalia for the past several years, where he was engaged in business.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Eliadea Williams Jobe, and one daughter, Miss Dorothy Jobe.

During a period of reduced business activity, motorists prefer cars with dark colors. With the return of good times, the trend is back to lighter hues.

Britain's Bite

News that many American planes were included in the defenses with which London turned back one Nazi raid the other day gives substance to Prime Minister Churchill's forecast that Britain next year will carry an offensive aerial warfare more intensively to Germany and its allies.

Britain's handicap in matching Berlin bombings with London bombings and in making Italy feel the bite of war has been in comparatively short range planes. By the time the bombers have flown to Berlin or to Northern Italy with their loads, their fuel is largely exhausted and their period of bombing necessarily brief. Consequently neither the German nor the Italian cities have suffered the destruction that British cities have.

But many of the American planes now being delivered to England are the longest range bombers in existence. The best of the American ships could fly to Europe, discharge their ammunition and return home non-stop. As such planes become available to Britain in increasing numbers, no part of continental Europe under Axis control will be immune from the British sting.

Three Odd Ones

Pressing for definite placement in the jigsaw puzzle of the war right now are Russia, Japan, Turkey. The developments of the conflict immediately ahead depend upon the disposition of these countries in the conflict.

The action of Japan and Turkey depends upon the determination of Japan in the one instance and of Turkey in another about the real role Russia intends to play. There is an oriental obscurity and obliquity about all three of these nations which makes understanding by occidentals difficult, vital as their course has become to all westerners.

Since it thundered in the index two weeks ago with a noisy show of hostility to Britain and America, Japan has notably piped down. That country, before it gets head over heels in the general conflict, would like to be assured that it will not have the big ugly bear on its back.

Turkey, threatened with a Hitler-Mussolini advance to the Dardanelles, wanting to fight for its European frontier as it has always fought, is teetering between that traditional duty and a surrender to the Axis. Should the Turks become convinced that Russia will keep out of the battle for the Bosphorus, the Turks will fight. With Russia getting in against it, Turkey in all probability will decide to submit.

Only the event will reveal Russia's intentions, and it can not be long delayed.

South American Trade

Already coordinator of commercial and cultural relations between the American Republics, Nelson Rockefeller now becomes chairman of the Inter-American Development Commission. The appointment serves to direct attention anew to the situation in trade relations between the United States and South Aerica.

With the outbreak of the European war that continent had to turn north for the products it was shut off from getting across the Atlantic. The United States' capacity for furnishing them has been amply demonstrated. What Uncle Sam has been less successful in is providing larger outlets for the commodities they must sell, some of which are competitive with his own.

The figures tell the story. In the first year of the war United States exports to those countries showed a gain of $243,000,000, but imports from them were up only $146,000,000 a difference in favor of the United States of nearly $100,000,000. Formerly such unfavorable balance of trade with the United States would be offset by favorable balances of trade with Europe, but this is no longer possible.

With United States buying from South America lagging so far behind its South American selling, the result is that South American buying from the United States has tended to decline recently. The situation shows the importance of present efforts to broaden South American markets and to provide loans.

Argentina's case is particularly in point. Although she needs Uncle Sam's goods, she has had to restrict her purchases. It is why she is seeking dollar credits from the Export-Import bank.

Unpleasant Parallel

A few years ago, before the passions of war were unleashed in all their fury, the United States was shown clearly, by painstaking students, how a mounting foreign trade in munitions gradually created an interest in the European war which was a large factor in drawing the United States into that war.

Without drawing too exact a parallel, it is just as well to keep an eye on our present export situation. Almost half of our export trade now consists of war materials and goods closely related to that trade. Forty-two per cent at the end of the first year of the war, according to the department of commerce. It has undoubtedly increased since then.

Not all, by any means, is going to Britain. Several Latin American countries, Russia, and of course Japan, have received large shares. This war trade has developed relatively faster than it did in 1914.

Conditions are not entirely parallel, and we have the experience of 1914-1917 to draw upon and to learn from. It is not necessary to deduce, therefore, that we are following the same road. But it does no harm to note quite clearly the great degree to which our foreign trade has now become entangled with wars abroad.

It is understood that between now and election President Roosevelt will devote his time to inspecting Chairman Flynn's defense plants and to preventing the chairman from holding press conferences

ANYBODY SEEN A RACE HORSE AROUND ANYWHERE?

"Form at New York race tracks has been shot to pieces to a point where it has become a scandal. Not one favorite in fifteen has come through of late."—News item.

"Form!" exclaimed Luke Twitchell, brother of the famous Elmer, today. "My eye! How could there be any form with so many tracks running in this country today that all a horse has to have to get into a race is a certificate proving that he prefers oats to dog biscuit?

"Just lamp the entries any day at the various tracks and note the names of them tapirs that are being saddled as thoroughbreds. You will find that you have known them, man and boy, for years, and that the owners are running 'em day after day, twelve months a year, with time out only for van trips between meetings.

"Combahee, Haile's Play, Copper Tube, Wrought Iron, Foreign Legion, Panalong, Ballystratford, Italian Harry, Lovick, Clapair, Knights Haven, Praetorian, Broad Vision, Jelwell, Berry Patch, Les Miserables, Miss Gino, Pastry, Manso, Henryel's Pick, Bright Sox, Jack Fly and Money Muddle . . . they're in every other day. Glassy Eye Royal Bird, Paddy, Mattapony, Strolling By, Arboreal, Devil's Mate, Midas, Roncat, Irish Moon, Ken's Revenge, Jens Son, Repercussion . . . how would they be able to hold any form if they did manage to pick any up?

"Before the country went race track crazy and opened more tracks than there are horses to run on 'em owners used to run their skinners only in seasons when they were in good shape, and they knew that any animal except mules and wart hogs have to grab a little rest once in a while. They knew no thoroughbred could be raced all the time and have any form.

"But today these beetles don't no more than get settled in their stalls before they are yanked out again for another heat. Even a radio police car has more idle time. A more tired, cock-eyed, staggering mess of horseflesh was never dragged to the post than you see today.

"Those skinners are too dizzy to know whether they're racing or yachting. A horse should be keen, sharp and feeling in the pink to race well. These crickets do it from habit. They are so full of aches and pains that if they could talk they would yell 'Is there a doctor in the house?' every time they get into a stall gate.

"I can name three hundred nags that show a little speed only when they smell arnica and are trying to reach it. They have saliva tests to prevent doping, but you couldn't make these animals feel up to a race if you filled 'em with nitro, gave 'em an alcohol bath on the way to the post and let 'em race without jockeys.

"There are thousands of horses racing every day in this country, and I'll bet you can't name twenty that don't do more traveling week in and week out than Mrs. Roosevelt.

"Form? Can a Yellow Cab develop form? Do milk wagons get it? Did you ever see it in a freight train?"

CREATIVE WORK CURE FOR GLOOM

Helen is sixteen, pretty, anxious to be liked and not quite sure of how to go about it. She goes to high school and gets good marks, not the highest, but high enough to pass without causing the teacher any anxiety. The daily routine of school—lessons, home for lunch, back to school, home for no special purpose, study, an hour or so of no special interest, bed, and the routine over again—palls upon the girl and she grows moody.

"What's the matter with that girl?" asks father.

"I really can't make her out," says mother. "She has everything a girl her age needs—a good home and good clothes; she is pretty, and she does well enough in school. But I don't know. Somehow she just isn't happy. Doesn't seem to be going anywhere with it all."

"Huh. If she rolled up her sleeves and set to work and washed the dishes she'd not have so much time on her hands. Make her do something."

That's an old style recipe for moody adolescents and it has its good side. At least it did at one time. Dishes are soon washed these days, and they're not enough to fill any girl's life. Washing the dishes, to be of any use to the dishwasher, must imply having had something to do with the job that made them ready for washing—hence, preparing the meal. This creative effort is what is denied many young people and they don't get spiritual satisfaction out of clearing away the signs of other folks' creative work.

What the moody adolescent boy or girl needs is the chance to do creative work and the usual school and home routine does not offer it. It is this lack in the lives of our young people that is forcing them into the ranks of do-nothings, movie fans, idlers and hangers-on. It is this lack that creates moody, brooding, miserable young people for whom the world seems to have no use.

If there is an adolescent child in your circle check up on his day to discover what opportunities he has had during the day for creative work, for a job, a bit of service, self-direction, responsibility and the feeling of personal achievement. You will discover, if the situation is at all usual, that his young person, so alive and so eager to do and to be, has been obliged to follow an ordered routine all day long with no chance whatever to discover a way for himself, or to carry out an idea of his own. When you remember that all mental and spiritual growth must depend upon activity, self-direction, responsibility for one's personal actions, you can begin to see why we have so many discouraged, helpless, useless adolescents.

A boy or girl is willing to clear up after a job he does under his own power because his spirit has been fed through self-directed, personally initiated work. That child, so cheerful when at work of his own, becomes a moody, protesting, soured child when made to clean up after work with which he had had no association, in which he has had no partnership.

The idea is this: Don't order a child to wash the dishes, in any field of activity, until you have granted him a share in the creative side of the job. Do that and you have a healthier, happier, far more useful person to deal with. Usefulness is a cure for moods, but it must be real and creative to be effective.

Mr. Patri has prepared a leaflet entitled, "Stammering," in which he advises parents how to coach the youngsters over this childhood difficulty. Send for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology Department of the Monroe News-Star, Postoffice Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

A minor excitement these days consists of the way the straw vote takers are jumping one another's claims.

THE LAST FEW DAYS

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—Japan has threatened to bomb the Burma road, dispatches say, but to more than 100,000 Chinese coolies who froze and sweat to build it, bombing is no more than nature has been doing for years.

Less than a year ago, Nelson T. Johnson, United States ambassador to China, was permitted to travel over the new Burma road in a car. From his reports and those of a few who followed him can be pieced one of the most amazing stories of any road in our time.

The Burma road has its beginnings at Rangoon, runs north to Mandalay, and on to Lashio. There the railway ends but for another 120 miles—to Wanting on the Burma-Yunnan border—there is a good British-built road.

Two-Week Journey

At Wanting, the real Burma road begins. It writhes and weaves like a snake through 650 miles of jagged mountains and mile-deep gorges. Torrents, snow, ice and landslides hammer at it all the year round. Throughout the rainy season, just ending now, the road is impassable much of the time. Even in good weather it takes a motor truck two weeks to make the 650 miles—50 miles a day and the days are long.

For more than 600 years the Burma road was a pack trail and in sections a rutted cart road. But in 1937, when Chiang Kai-Shek saw the need for opening what might be his last lifeline to the south (he hasn't any other now but the 2,000 mile truck road into Russia), work was started on the last link.

Work Without Pay

The governor of Yunnan province levied on the tribes and villages for labor. Men came from as far as eight days away. They grumbled, for workers on the Burma road get no pay, but they came in droves. At times there have been 120,000 men, women and children at work.

They hacked away at the mountain sides, they cut timber, they rolled great rocks into gulleys and gorges. They piled stones beside the narrow strip and old men sat all day breaking them with little hammers. They spread rocks on the road, filled the chinks with gravel, and packed it down with ox-drawn rollers hewn from solid rock. When there were landslides the work had to be done all over again.

The coolies bridged the roaring torrents of the Salween and Mekong rivers, looking up a mile through the pines and wild rhododendron to the snow-capped Yunnan peaks. They bridged scores of lesser streams with stone and cement arches that would stand under the weight of 2,000 three-ton trucks ordered from America. And when the floods caught them, the work once more had to be done over again.

Two-Year Job

Finally, in two years, the Burma road was finished. It wasn't a speedway but it was finished—if such a road ever can be called finished. Nature never ceases her blasting. It takes an army of workers to keep it in repair.

But the soldiers of China must be fed and have guns and ammunition. So the army working on the Burma road will take its rain of bombs along with the blasts of nature and keep on working. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek says it can be done; the Japanese say it can't. In Washington, nobody knows. But one way or the other, the Burma road will be in the history books.

FILES NEW ACTION AGAINST DICK FORAN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Ruth Foran, who dropped the divorce suit she filed against Cowboy Actor Dick Foran last March, has brought a new action.

Her complaint stated she agreed to a property settlement under duress after Foran had taken "unconscionable" advantage of her. It provided for payment of $125 to $175 a month for support of their two young sons.

In her new suit, Mrs. Foran asks $500 a month alimony and $500 additional for support of the children. The couple married in 1937.

ENCOURAGE NATIONS TO PRODUCE CROPS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The agriculture department acted today to encourage Central and South American countries to produce crops that complement those of the United States, particularly rubber.

It announced establishment of a Latin-American division which will coordinate all phases of the department's program for encouraging production of non-competitive farm products in Latin America.

Here was a situation that dripped with dramatic interest. I was thinking of that scene last night as I watched a scene in another play, based on an incident in the life of Jesus.

In no way are these dramas similar. "Journey to Jerusalem" is the story of a journey Jesus made to Jerusalem with His family when He was only 12 years old. The idea of the journey was to celebrate the Passover. It was on this journey that this 12-year-old boy came into the realization that he was to be the Messiah.

There is one scene in this play that deals with the awful metamorphosis that takes place in His mind when He realizes that His is to be no triumphal procession, no shining armor, no crown of gems. The picture is one of a tormented little boy whose childish [illegible]

NEW FIGHTER PLANE DELIVERED TO ARMY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The first delivery on a formidable new five-place fighter plane was announced today by the army. The craft is armed with two 37 millimeter cannon and also with machine guns of both .50 and .30-caliber.

The ship, produced by the Bell Aircraft Corporation, Buffalo, N. Y., was delivered to Wright field, Ohio. Known as model YFM-1A, it is similar to fighters first delivered in 1937 but is equipped with retractable tri-cycle type landing gear.

Its two liquid cooled Allison engines operate pusher-type propellers, mounted to the rear.

It is reported that 41 per cent of all the cars and trucks in the nation are used by small town and farm communities.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

Europe's newly whelped war today appeared from meager advices to continue without great change to struggle its way through the fierce mountain passes into invaded Greece.

Italian claims that they have penetrated 40 miles into the unhappy little country is met by the undaunted counter-claim that the hard-fighting line of Greek kilted mountain troops is maintaining its front unbroken. Meanwhile steady streams of defending reinforcements were flowing northward.

However, it would be surprising if there had been any appreciable change in the situation so soon. The terrain over which the battle is taking place is terrific.

I have traveled through some of the Greek mountain area at this time of year and can imagine few things more difficult than offensive military operations there. Even ordinary travel is [illegible], nothing of fighting and moving heavy equipment [illegible] valleys from which the [illegible] frequently rise [illegible] to be precipitous. [illegible] their war [illegible]

[illegible] at the Greek [illegible] Greece, "Little John" Metaxas [illegible] big hand in [illegible] the defense of his country [illegible] of long and [illegible] that he [illegible] in Germany [illegible]

[illegible] Metaxas [illegible]. He [illegible] the [illegible] He had herded together 4,000 of his political opponents, including several ex-premiers and I don't know how many former cabinet ministers, and interned them on the many little islands off the Greek coast. It is rather an odd circumstance that the British in taking over the isles will find these colonies of exiles.

Occupation of the strategic islands, by the way, was supposedly what England was pursuing vigorously, although here again the world was being kept without information. The best we can say under the circumstances is that if the British fleet hasn't taken over the most important positions, it is mighty slow and unimaginative.

Protection of these islands at the mouth of the Aegean, as I remarked yesterday, would go far toward nullifying any advantage the Italians might gain by occupation of the Greek mainland. Mussolini's possession of Greece doesn't matter so much, considering the battle of the Mediterranean as a whole, so long as England retains control of the sea and the approaches to the Dardanelles which the axis partners must force before they can get into the near east.

Communist Chief Stalin continues to play solitaire over the fate of the European conflict.

He holds the balance of power between Hitler and England, and should the weight of Russia be thrown to either side at this critical juncture it might be decisive.

But Stalin is nothing if not practical. With a million and a quarter German troops reportedly in the Balkans, and scores of thousands more [illegible] and looking [illegible] Hitler [illegible] nothing for [illegible]. The Muscovites [illegible] until they see a [illegible] and when they do move it will be in the direction of serving their own interests.

That [illegible] attitude of Russia [illegible] Turkey. Should the Turks join Britain, the [illegible] and the British fleet would make a strong combination to beat in the Dardanelles.

Hitler [illegible] to put the screws on Turkey to keep her quiet. Should he succeed in driving the Turks into Britain's camp it would represent a decided gain for England, as I see it.

MINSTREL SHOW REHEARSAL HELD

Dancing Is Smooth, Singing Fine In Kiwanis Benefit Here

With Tuesday night's rehearsal at the Y. M. H. A. hall as a criterion, the Monroe Kiwanis club should be very much "In the Money" for the audience will witness 15 payments for concert, each worth its weight in the golden coin of amusement of the smooth dancing, excellent characterizations and superb singing that identifies the show. From overture to finale, the production will give evidence of the untiring efforts, the capabilities and enthusiasm of Director Harold Lukens.

The spirit of gaiety which has imbued the cast at rehearsals will spread to the audience. Too much cannot be said for the choruses. The work that these girls and boys put into rehearsals is tremendous and tiring, but the picture they present as they swing along from one number to another, is one of precision, grace and beauty. They add infinitely to the show.

The feature and climaxing scene of "In the Money" will be a gorgeous minstrel stage show with the old glamour of singers, black "end men" and an abundance of wise-cracking and really funny gags and cross fire with the comedians. A number of the latest songs will be introduced. The scene represents a lavish, modernistic set, with costumes and scenic background carrying out the idea that "we're in the money now." Dean C. C. Colvert is master of ceremonies, or interlocutor. A chorus of 50 men and women will comprise the "circle."

As a finale, the entire ensemble of the musical show will appear on the stage in a rousing number.

The show's cause is a good one as proceeds will benefit the underprivileged children's fund. And not only will you receive a full evening's entertainment, but you will have the satisfaction of having contributed to a worthy cause. The curtain will rise at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at Neville High auditorium. Seats now are on sale at Johnson's studio.

Pull the Trigger on Lazy Bowels

with herb laxative, combined with syrup pepsin to make it agreeable and easy to take

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste and bad breath, your stomach is probably "crying the blues" because your bowels don't move. It calls for Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels, combined with good old Syrup Pepsin to make your laxative more agreeable and easier to take. For years many Doctors have used pepsin compounds, as agreeable carriers to make other medicines more palatable when your "taster" feels easily upset. So be sure your laxative contains Syrup Pepsin. Insist on Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna, combined with Syrup Pepsin. See how wonderfully its herb Laxative Senna wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your intestines, to bring welcome relief from constipation. And see how its Syrup Pepsin makes Dr. Caldwell's medicine so smooth and agreeable to a touchy gullet. Even finicky children love the taste of this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna at your druggist's today. Try one laxative that won't bring on violent distaste, even when you take it after a full meal.

QUASH CHARGES AGAINST 2 MEN

Judge Salley Throws Out Indictments Of Vote Fraud In Election

Judge Jay "Bird" Salley Wednesday quashed an indictment against "Honest John" Williams, West Monroe election director, and "Honest Jack" Allen, Five Points election director, which charged the two with vote fraud in Tuesday's election.

The indictment alleged that Williams and Allen "did substitute false ballot boxes for the originals," thus determining the outcome of the election to their own personal gain.

Other indictments quashed today by Judge Salley were those against Wheeler Liles and Tom Adams, charged jointly in connection with the addition of "extras" in the construction of the Little Chicago jail.

Simmie Wood, defeated mayor of Little Chicago, was so crestfallen by his defeat he was unable to identify anybody when called to the ticket office during the grand ball last night at the Frances Hotel.

When time came for Mayor Wood to crown the queen, those in attendance cried out in a voice, "Let Gus do it." Anyway the queen, Miss Rosalie Sherman, was crowned.

Speaking to the audience at the ball, Gus Kokinos, the new mayor, declared that on several occasions he had been "cross-doubled" by Mayor Wood and "his gang," but on this occasion "Simmie's own boys cross-doubled him."

"That just goes to show you that it don't pay to be a cross-doubler. I'm going to make you a good mayor," Kokinos told Little Chicagoans, "the best mayor you ever had."

Final tallies gave Kokinos 8,783 votes; Wood 2,673; Chief of Police Wheeler Liles 8,785; Dooley Davis 2,640; Colonel Conscript Tom Adams 8,783; K. D. Hayes 2,641; City Judge C. S. Simpson 2,698; Jay "Bird" Salley 8,215; Sheriff Brock Lewis 8,216; Tom Leos 2,673; General Nuisance Jimmie Skinner 8,741; Sandel Berry 2,603.

Over in West Monroe the boys are pledging allegiance to defeat the entire ticket of Five Points in next year's Little Chicago election.

(Following are the order numbers affecting registrants of Ouachita and surrounding parishes. Highest serial numbers of Ouachita parish boards are 4143 for No. 1 and 3933 for No. 2. Thus in the following table order numbers for serial numbers above 4143 are not listed. However, the order number will vary in virtually every draft district. For instance, the national master list skips Ouachita parish from order No. 2 to No. 19, as shown in the table, because of high numbers, but the local boards will move up their order number to make No. 19 order No. 3, No. 20 become No. 4, and so on.)

"I put my hat down for a minute—and look what happened!"

And that's the way Paul Jones' popularity grew, too!

Here's what happened: Two years ago Paul Jones was being praised by connoisseurs for its delightful, non-sweet dryness. But though there were many men who enjoy a dry, tangy whiskey, some felt they couldn't afford Paul Jones at its former price.

So we reduced the price—without changing any of Paul Jones' expensive qualities! And today, Paul Jones is one of America's most popular whiskies . . . five times as popular as it was less than two years ago!

Why don't you, too, make friends with dry Paul Jones? Frankfort Distilleries, Inc., Louisville & Baltimore.

WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNEY ALMOST ORLEANS AFFAIR

FAVORITE GOES ON TO VICTORY IN FIRST ROUND

Mrs. Sam Israel Easily Beats Mrs. Harry Davis, 8 And 7

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Louisiana state women's golf tournament was almost an all-New Orleans affair today.

Mrs. J. J. Boyd of Baton Rouge defeated Mrs. J. L. Woods of New Orleans, 5 and 3, yesterday, to enter the second round.

The only other out-of-towner, Mrs. [illegible] S. Harrison, also of Baton Rouge, was eliminated by Mrs. Jack Petersen, [illegible] up.

Mrs. Sam Israel, odds-on favorite to take the title, had an easy time beating Mrs. Harry Davis, 8 and 7.

Other opening rounds results:

Two Tiger Gridsters Rate Sophomore-Team-Of-Week

Jack Barrett And Walter Barnes Picked For Outstanding Play

By Harry P. Snyder

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Tomorrow's headliners — sophomores who have begun early delivery on the promises uttered by their sponsors before freshman days—are thriving in the Southeastern conference.

Sports writers, after checking and re-checking their notes on last Saturday's games, nominated more than 30 young, healthy huskies for places on what can be called the Associated Press' all-Southeastern sophomore-team-of-the-week.

A check list of more than 60 names revealed that while practically every conference member—from the victorious Vols of Tennessee to the hapless Tulane team—has good sophomore material, the Auburn and Louisiana State coaches are relying most on the debutantes.

The honor list, drafted only after a hectic session of sifting the greats from the near-greats, finally included three Auburn performers, two from L. S. U. and one each from Tennessee, Vanderbilt, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech and Tulane.

TROUBLE AHEAD FOR TWO TEAMS

Tennessee, Auburn Will Have To Stop Tigers And Bulldogs

(By Associated Press)

Tennessee and Auburn will have to hold "those Tigers and Bulldogs" Saturday if they expect to continue their undefeated march in the Southeastern Conference.

The mighty Volunteers, with two conference victories and undefeated and untied this season, go against the Tigers of Louisiana State, who haven't beaten the Tennesseans since 1933.

Rugged Auburn, with two wins and a tie in conference competition, clashes at Columbus, Ga., with the Bulldogs of Georgia, who haven't beaten the Plainsmen since 1934.

Tennessee, with its backfield ace, Bob Foxx, back in harness, rates an overwhelming choice to romp on Louisiana State, which has had an up-and-down season, defeating Holy Cross and Vanderbilt but losing to Mississippi and Rice.

But Auburn, which has been taking a pounding in games with Tulane, Mississippi State, Southern Methodist and Georgia Tech on successive Saturdays, may find tough going against Georgia. The Plainsmen will be somewhat handicapped, also, by the loss of hard-pounding Rufus Deal, injured in the Tech game last week.

Coach Wallace Butts of Georgia isn't taking Auburn lightly. He saw them top Tech, 16-7, and afterward, observed: "Honestly, they have more power than any ball club I've seen this year."

Georgia and Auburn started their football rivalry in 1892 and have met every year except three. Auburn has won 20 games and lost 13. Five ended in a tie.

Tech, Southwestern Clash On Lafayette Grid Friday

Conference Tilt Features Battle Of Bulldog Elevens

RUSTON, Oct. 30.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech football players, bolstered in spirits by their 20-14 upset of the previously undefeated Illinois Wesleyan university gridmen here last Friday, have as their practice objective this week a game with the Southwestern Louisiana Institute Bulldogs in Lafayette Friday night.

The contest will mark the twenty-first meeting of the Tech and Southwestern elevens since the series began in 1916. Tech holds a one-game margin, having won 10, lost nine and tied one of the 20 engagements between the two teams.

Head Coach Joe Aillet said he had in mind a few promotions in selecting Tech's starting lineup for the S. L. I. battle, the recognitions coming from performances against the Illinois Titans as well as from showings in drill rehearsals.

Captain Pickle Vise, handicapped with a fractured collar bone earlier in the season, likely will start at right halfback Friday night, the coach stated. Robert May probably will be the first-string quarterback to open the Southwestern game. Frank Bruno probably will return to the starting field at left guard, after having relinquished the post to Luther Smith [illegible]

IRISH AND ARMY TO BE SELLOUT

Cadets Take Poorest Record Of Decade To Tilt With Rivals

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Though Army has beaten only Williams while Notre Dame has romped past each of its four opponents, their football game on Saturday at Yankee Stadium in New York will draw its customary complement of 80,000 cash customers.

Army Athletic Association officials announced Tuesday they still were being swamped with last-minute requests which cannot be filled. Lieutenant-Colonel Louis E. Hibbs, graduate manager of athletics, added that the Notre Dame quota was exhausted a month ago.

The Cadets face this game with the poorest record they ever have carried into action against the Irish, a team already being compared favorably with the great 1930 Knute Rockne machine. Winner by only one point over Williams in the opener, Army was chopped by Cornell and Lafayette and played a 0-0 tie with Harvard.

Johnny Hatch, veteran tailback and one of the few veteran and reliable backs, will have to watch the game from the sidelines.

Yet all of these factors pointing to an easy victory for Notre Dame obviously have not scared off the customers. The chance to see the full corps of cadets on parade and the chance for Notre Dame's New York "subway alumni" to cheer their favorites still can pack 'em in at the gate.

ARCADIA ELEVEN MEETS HAUGHTON

ARCADIA, Oct. 30.—(Special)—Arcadia High School football eleven plays its eighth game of the season next Thursday night October 31, when it meets the Haughton team on the Arcadia field, game starting at 8 o'clock.

Arcadia has played seven games, winning five, losing one and tieing one. The last game played was with the Delhi team, played on the local field last Friday night with Delhi High School, which resulted in an Arcadia win by a score of 13 to 0. Delhi put up an unexpected stiff opposition that caught the locals off guard and the result was a close, hard-fought game, as indicated by the score.

This is the third year the locals have met Haughton on the gridiron. The two years previously, Arcadia won. The game this year is expected to be close and hard-fought, as Haughton has developed a good, hard-playing team with plenty of fight. A large crowd is expected to attend.

An interesting feature of the home games now is that a special act is put on between halves by the grade school boys. Last Friday night a tug of war was engaged in by the boys of the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades. This Thursday night a horse and rider contest will be staged. Boys with other boy riders will wrestle and the pair of boys, horse and rider, staying on their feet the longest will be declared the winner.

The band always puts on a special event, assisted by the pep squad and the two drum majors, Yale Poland and Dixie Madden.

Homecoming will be November 8, when the Arcadia team tackles the strong Plain Dealings team on the local field.

NEVILLE TIGERS IN SCRIMMAGE

Coach Percy Brown Changes Plans, Sends Teams Through Paces

The Neville High school Tigers were sent through a long scrimmage Tuesday in the rain. This was a change in plans by Coach Percy Brown, who started at the first of the week, that the Tigers would not have any rough work this week, but would spend the time in polishing drills.

The Bengals did not look good enough to please the mentor, however, and he ordered the scrimmage to iron out the kinks in the Neville offense.

The Bengals will be in the best shape of the season for the homecoming game with the Ruston Bearcats in their new stadium Friday night. Doyne Demasterson, first string end, is the only gridder who is hurt seriously enough to keep him out of the tilt. He has a bruised hip. Roy Earl and Sam Ladart are bothered with ankle injuries.

The lights at the new stadium were tested Monday night and proved to be in perfect focus. The stadium's sod will be in fine shape for the contest, it was announced by Coach Brown.

The prices for the game will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students. The dedication ceremonies will get under way at 7 o'clock sharp, with the game starting at approximately 8 p.m.

MORRISON SEES ELECTION THEFT

Wires U. S. Authorities To Keep Eyes On Balloting Nov. 5

Charging that "Jones administration henchmen" would attempt to "steal" the general election in Louisiana on November 5, James H. Morrison, Hammond, La., attorney and candidate for governor in the January primary, Tuesday night announced that he has requested the federal government to be on the alert.

Speaking on a statewide radio hookup originating from KMLB in Monroe and asking that the people of the state defeat the consitutional amendments in next week's ballot, Mr. Morrison announced that he had sent the following telegram to Robert Jackson, United States attorney general:

"Have information that attempt will be made by Jones administration henchmen to steal election in Louisiana next Tuesday, November 5. Am advising you of same because of the great importance of our presidential election and the attempt of the Jones crowd to pass consitutional amendment No. 3 which will charge democratic form of government in Louisiana. This amendment No. 3 was prepared by a man named (E. O.) Griffenhagen (of Griffenhagen and Associates) whom many in Louisiana believe to be an agent of Hitler and on whom your office probably has information file.

"Numerous henchmen of Jones will attempt to steal votes to pass this Hitler-Griffenhagen amendment. Some of these same Jones henchmen were indicted by the United States grand jury for stealing votes in two congressional elections in New Orleans this past September 10th. This vote probe by federal authorities of September 10th has not yet scratched the surface. I realize you already have many federal agents in Louisiana and most urgently request that you send as many additional agents as possible into Louisiana on November 5th. Appreciate your past courtesies."

Morrison launched into a vicious attack on Jones in his speech, terming the Louisiana governor as "Emperor Jones" and charging that he has violated his promises of his gubernatorial campaign, among them the elimination of "deadheads."

Additional taxes have been put on the people of the state, Mr. Morrison said. Legislators have been "promised" $1,200 per year to "vote for * * * phoney legislation;" these same legislators have been "made 'deadheads'," he declared. "Deducts" have been practiced under the Jones administration, in the state police, he charged.

Amendment No. 3, which is "the way Mr. Griffenhagen and Mr. Jones propose to substitute German Naziism for American democracy in the state of Louisiana," drew the principal fire of Mr. Morrison in his speech.

The reorganization bill, as the amendment is known, "has been boiled down to 38 meaningless words from which the average citizen—I'll go further than that, I'll say not 10 lawyers in Louisiana—would be able to interpret the meaning by reading those 38 words," Mr. Morrison said. He charged that, if passed, the amendment would "change our whole system of state government."

The only man in Louisiana who is supporting Jones in attempting to put over the amendments, Mr. Morrison declared, "is his senator from Covington—Frank Ellis." He accused Ellis of being "Sam Jones' mouthpiece and Charley McCarthy in the state senate." He added that "Willis' interest in having the constitutional amendments passed is to get himself a share of the loot which Sam Jones, through one of these constitutional amendments, is trying to have the people of Louisiana give to the legislators legally." He referred to the proposed $166,000 a year which would be paid the solons.

He accused Francis Whitehead of New Orleans, one of Jones' campaign managers, of being a "deadhead," citing that he receives $10,000 a year for being "'patronage dispenser' in the empire of Mr. Jones."

Highway employes have been cut in salary until now they receive only 20 cents per hour for general labor, Mr. Morrison said. Employes, he said, "have been so discouraged that they are quitting their jobs."

The civil service amendment, Mr. Morrison stated, is a "high sounding title behind which to hide their (Jones administration) scheming political trickery * * *." He said that he didn't believe a man should be required to have a college education in order to hold a state job.

Mr. Morrison lashed furiously at Steve Alford, superintendent of state police, charging that Alford has placed 100 hogs on grounds of the state and that Alford "has spent $5,600 of your (the people's) money to build a fence around the property on which he is raising his hogs."

Jones, Mr. Morrison said, has taken only one tax off and put on 20 more although he promised to relieve the people of 27 taxes which he said "had been unnecessarily placed on the backs of the people of Louisiana."

Jones has done nothing for the farmers of the state, Mr. Morrison charged, and then called on James A. Noe, political ally of the governor to get on the radio and publicly denounce all of the amendments. He called on all factions—the Noe, Morrison, Long, Moseley and others in the state—to work actively against the amendments in a statement issued just after the broadcast.

Had Dieted Strictly To No Avail; Suffered Distress After Each Meal; . . . Then Gly-Cas Made A Great Change

"My health had been gradually growing worse sometime before I learned of Gly-Cas and put it to a test," said Mr. Ivan L. Perry, 306 Kirkman street, Lake Charles, La. "My body was clogged with intestinal impurities from a stubborn case of constipation and my digestion was so affected that everything I ate disagreed with me causing me much suffering and distress. Finally I lost all desire for foods, choosing to not eat at all than suffer with those gas pains, bloating and attacks of indigestion which were so sure to follow. I had little energy to do my daily work as my sleep and rest was constantly disturbed by frequent kidney action. I became so terribly discouraged in my condition but a short trial of Gly-Cas soon changed all of that.

"I regret that I did not learn of Gly-Cas years sooner," continued Mr. Perry. "Now my bowels are regular in eliminating clogged intestinal impurities and I have shown rapid improvement. I have a keen appetite now and enjoy the foods I wish without fear of distressing effects following. My strength and energy has returned and my work is no drudgery for me now. I rest and sleep well without any disturbances and it is a pleasure to recommend such an efficient remedy as Gly-Cas proved in my stubborn case."

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug Company, 348 DeSiard street, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns.—Adv.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—(AP)—Aircrafts and steels stabilized the stock market today as leaders extended gains from one to two points.

Traders, made cautious by war and politics, operated irregularly. Transactions totaled about 700,000 shares.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—(AP)—A rise in aircrafts drew delayed support from steels today, lifting the whole stock market higher.

Early fractional gains were increased to around a point or more for many leaders toward the fourth hour, although the rate of dealings was ragged.

Included in the advancing list were Douglas, Glenn Martin, United Aircraft, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Harvester, Caterpillar, Western Union, Kennecott, Santa Fe, New York Central, Great Northern preferred and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

KNIGHTHOOD FLOWERS

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Horses' hooves are kicking up dust from the pages of medieval history in Maryland these days as the ancient tilting tournament is going strong again. Entire towns, from rustics to nobles, turn out at the cry of "Charge, Sir Knight!" while military airplanes may be roaring overhead on training flights. The tourneys declined after the World war, but about 20 are being held throughout the state this year. Some retain all the pomp and tradition of the Middle Ages, but in most, medieval costumes have given way to khaki breeches and sport shirts. They are nice and safe, too. Bone-breaking and avenging honor are no longer features. These tournaments are replicas of the tilting or "running-at-the-ring" which served in the seventeenth century as training for the real armored jousts.

MR. STIMSON GOT THESE FOR ARMY

(By Associated Press)

When Secretary Stimson drew 158 as the first number in the draft lottery yesterday, he got for his army (unless they are deferred):

Two Chinese in the No. 1 draft district of the country's two largest cities, New York and Chicago. A man in Tacoma, Wash., whose brother held the second number drawn, 192. A Washington plumber's helper whose parents happened to be in the auditorium for the drawing.

Two Cleveland newspaper reporters and an Associated Press operator in Los Angeles. A Duquesne University speech instructor who was rendered temporarily speechless. And more than 6,000 others, whose serial number also was 158.

One of the men bearing 158 already had beaten Uncle Sam to the draw, so to speak. A resident of Warren, O., he enlisted a few days ago.

NAVY VESSELS SAIL WITH SEALED ORDERS

KEY WEST, Fla., Oct. 30—(AP)—Naval officials here remained silent today as to the whereabouts of five destroyers of the Key West neutrality patrol and a seaplane tender which sailed under sealed orders from this port at the southernmost tip of the Florida peninsula.

The craft hurriedly provisioned and fueled for an extended voyage, left Tuesday, and soon afterwards 11 naval bombing planes likewise took off for an undisclosed destination.

Commandant Walter F. Jacobs of the Key West station declined to comment except to say the ships were under sealed orders. It was reported reliably that their mission was an important one.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE TENSAS BASIN LEVEE BOARD

[illegible]

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner Nunn and seconded by Commissioner Monroe:

WHEREAS an Amendment is being proposed to the Constitution of the State of Louisiana, which will be voted on in the General Election to be held in this State on Tuesday, November 5th, this which proposes to limit the Tensas Basin Levee District's authority to levy for levee purposes to a maximum tax of not more than one and one-half mills [illegible] other levee Districts of the State would be permitted to levy up to Five Mills; and

WHEREAS this proposition was rushed through the legislature in the very last days of the session by suspension of rules without giving the taxpayers or others at interest an opportunity to be heard; and

WHEREAS this levy of One and One-half Mills will not provide sufficient revenue on the present assessments to service the outstanding indebtedness of the said Levee District, consisting of bonds and certificates of indebtedness, to say nothing of providing funds for current expenses to operate the affairs of the Board or to meet an emergency, such as a high water fight; and

WHEREAS, the Tensas Basin Levee Board did in 1930 give the United States Engineers a solemn guarantee, ratified by all members of the Board, to maintain the levee system on the south bank of the Arkansas River and the Mississippi River levee in said district in Arkansas, and the voting of this amendment will make it impossible to carry out said solemn agreement, thereby causing the Tensas Basin Levee Board to default upon its written pledge to the United States; and

WHEREAS, our levee system is still incomplete, about sixty-five miles of the so-called [illegible] Sector in Arkansas being below the grade and section of levees on the opposite or east side of the Mississippi River, and with no funds available to provide rights-of-way and other expenditures incident and prior to the construction of levees by the United States government, the Tensas Basin Levee District and a great part of the State of Louisiana will remain unprotected and constantly subjected to the menace of floods from the Arkansas and Mississippi Rivers; and

WHEREAS, in 1927 the levees on the south bank of the Arkansas River in the district wherein the Tensas Basin Levee Board operates gave way and flooded a vast area in Louisiana from the Louisiana-Arkansas line to the Gulf of Mexico, causing serious loss of lives and the destruction of untold millions of property values and paralyzing communication and travel north and south and east and west throughout the State; and

WHEREAS, the Tensas Levee Board is the "key" levee board of the State in that their levees on the south bank of the Arkansas River protect the entire alluvial section of the Mississippi Valley in Louisiana west of said Mississippi River, and if the said Tensas Basin Levee Board is not able to protect the integrity of its levee systems, then the levee systems of all the other levee boards in the State of Louisiana operating on the west bank of the Mississippi River are rendered impotent. In other words if the Tensas Basin Levee Board's levees do not hold, then the entire alluvial valley of the Mississippi River in Louisiana west of the Mississippi River will be inundated as in 1927; and

WHEREAS, National Defense makes it vital that all lines of communication and travel throughout the State of Louisiana be kept open, instead of being destroyed as they were by the flood of 1927, and whereas the adoption of the proposed constitutional amendment will absolutely destroy the power of the Tensas Basin Levee Board to protect Louisiana's "key" levee system, as said amendment, if adopted, will not only deprive said board of funds with which to wage a high water fight but will destroy the credit of said board and thereby prevent the borrowing of funds with which to wage said high water fight, and,

WHEREAS, this proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 20 on the ticket to be voted November 5, 1940, if not defeated by the voters of the State, may tear down and render impotent and useless the work of the past fifty years on flood control, which represents a vast public investment of hundreds of millions of dollars of the people's money, and will subject the entire alluvial valley of the Mississippi River in Louisiana west of said river to the hazard of destruction of life and property, transportation and communication similar to and exceeding that which occurred in 1927, and in so doing work irreparable damage to the State of Louisiana as a whole, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Commissioners of the Tensas Basin Levee District in regular session convened, That this Board go on record as opposed to this suicidal move made without sufficient information and investigation as to the requirements of the Tensas Basin Levee Board, and said board takes this opportunity to call attention to the taxpayers of this District and the State of Louisiana to the gravity of the situation, and issue warning of the tragic mistake and error, and the probable fatal consequences that may result from the adoption of this Proposed Constitutional Amendment; and,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, ETC., That all taxpayers, citizens and public boards having the interests of the Levee District and the State of Louisiana at heart, not only this Tensas Basin Levee District, but the Fifth Louisiana Levee District, the Atchafalaya Levee District and all other [illegible] of the State, which are placed in jeopardy [illegible], are urged to go to the polls on Tuesday, November 5th, 1940, and vote against this proposed Constitutional Amendment.

Adopted October [illegible], 1940.

INJURED IN TANK BLAST

C. F. Routon Escapes With Severe Burns In Odd Explosion

HARRISONBURG, Oct. 30.—(Special)—Standing atop the new municipal water tank Tuesday night, C. F. Routon, local drilling contractor, lighted a match to determine the water content, and narrowly escaped death when the tank exploded.

Routon was blown high above the top of the 20-foot tank and landed on his feet with his head on fire, suffering painful burns and bruises, Mayor P. F. Carter and Postmaster Jesse L. Beasley, who had accompanied Routon to the tank, said.

The explosion telescoped the tank and destroyed it, Mayor Carter said. Cause of the explosion was said to have been caused from the chlorine in the new purification system, the mayor said.

The new tank was complete with the exception of an automatic float to cut the motor off when the tank was full. Routon, who drilled the well, had climbed a ladder to the top of the tank to determine how full the tank was before shutting off the motor.

The accident occurred about 10 p.m. and Routon returned to his home, Mayor Carter said.

F. D. R., WILLKIE SCHEDULE TALKS

President Heads For Massachusetts; Opponent Speeds East

(By Associated Press)

To the old Bay state, in the past a source of quadrennial Democratic election strength since 1928, President Roosevelt traveled today for another of the major addresses in his closing campaign drive.

Wendell L. Willkie was speeding east again from a short midwest swing with a program that called for stops and short talks in West Virginia and Maryland, followed by a major address tonight in Baltimore.

Before entering Massachusetts where 17 electoral votes are at stake, Mr. Roosevelt's itinerary included appearances in Connecticut, which has eight electoral votes to award. While in that state, he was to visit an aircraft factory where defense contracts are being handled.

Willkie took defense for his theme in two speeches at Charleston, W. Va., last night, charging that President Roosevelt had been guilty of "boondoggling neglect" and "buck passing" in providing for national preparedness.

The likelihood that matters of defense would be the subject of further Willkie talks was indicated by the Republican nominee's associates after his assertion at Charleston that a third term would imperil preparedness and that "democracy itself might be lost."

The Charleston speeches also charged Mr. Roosevelt had "overruled the experts" in defense planning and had failed to request sufficient funds from congress.

Campaign statements shared interest with speeches last night in many sections of the country.

Chairman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of the Republican national committee, denied what he termed a charge by Mr. Roosevelt that Republicans in congress had sabotaged the national defense program.

"Of course they could not do that," Martin said in a statement issued in New York, "even if they wished. The New Dealers have had overwhelming control of both houses of congress for eight years."

Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the American Jewish Congress, announced his support of Mr. Roosevelt and criticized what he termed an attempt to "coerce Jews to refrain from voting for the president." Wise made known his views in New York in an editorial in a Jewish journal which he edits.

Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, widow of the 23rd president, issued a statement in New York through the Associated Willkie Clubs of America, in which she said that if the present administration continues "it will surely pile up a debt so staggering that our grandchildren will find it a terrific burden."

In another political development, Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, N. J., was questioned by a United States senate subcommittee at Newark, N. J. Hague, state Democratic leader and national committeeman, refused to appear and was subpoenaed. At a turbulent hearing, he denounced the inquiry into charges of election irregularities in New Jersey as "a 10-cent, picayune, political" investigation aimed at defeating Mr. Roosevelt in that state. Hague has been sharply attacked by Willkie in several speeches.

Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy spoke over the radio from New York calling for the reelection of Mr. Roosevelt as the man who "can best serve the nation."

Kennedy returned by plane Sunday from his post in England. His broadcast was financed by Mrs. Kennedy and their nine children; radio officials put the cost at $20,786.

He denied that there was a secret commitment by the president to Great Britain to lead the United States into war, and added that "the facts are against our participation in this war."

Other campaign speeches included:

Lansing, Mich.—Senator Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, said that there "will be a shortage of labor at the end of President Roosevelt's third term" if private employment continues present gains.

Philadelphia—Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York, said that Willkie's election is "the only hope for our people."

Smith said that "the whole unemployment problem would have been solved and we would today have national defense" if the money spent on relief since 1933 had been used for armament.

Chicago—Mayor LaGuardia of New York said that Willkie was "seeking to create racial animosities among our people" and "seeking to instill fear in the country by misinterpreting" Mr. Roosevelt's national defense program.

New York—Representative Barton, Republican, New York, said that the Roosevelt administration sought "to perpetuate its rule through the promulgation of fear" and that "the third term will mean something very like a gestapo."

Buffalo, N. Y.—Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, ambassador to Poland, told a Polish-American Democratic rally that "national unity" was the "essential factor" for survival of the United States.

New York—Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, replying to a radio address by John L. Lewis supporting Willkie, called on labor to "keep America out of war" by reelecting Mr. Roosevelt. Wagner said the C. I. O. leader made a "grave and tragic mistake" in supporting Willkie.

Chicago—Chairman Jones, Democrat, Texas, of the house agricultural committee urged farmers to "stick to those who are honestly trying to find a solution" for their problems and said Republicans in congress had opposed the administration farm program.

Richmond, Va.—Attorney General Jackson said that Willkie "and his Commonwealth and Southern system were in the vanguard of those who refused to obey" the utilities holding company act until the supreme court upheld it and that afterwards Willkie charged in a magazine article that the court was "subservient to the will of the president."

Akron, O.—Solicitor General Francis Biddle said that "the class prejudices that Mr. Willkie now fears so greatly" had been engendered by "the very elements * * * which today are united in opposition to the president."

Boston—John L. Sullivan, assistant secretary of the treasury, said that Willkie was inexperienced and asked whether "the two men across the water are going to call time out and go on a vacation for a few months until a new president has been brought in and learns his job."

DIETETICS UNIT GETS APPROVAL

Tech's Home Economics Curriculum Okayed By National Group

RUSTON, Oct. 30.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech's home economics curriculum in dietetics has been approved by the American Dietetic Association of Chicago, according to a letter to Miss Helen Graham, dean of the Tech Home Economics School, from Miss Gladys Hall, educational director of the organization.

A bulletin sent Miss Graham by the national agency shows Tech graduates in nutrition work are eligible for admission to all recognized graduate training courses throughout the nation. By offering all of the subjects listed by the association, and by teaching more than the minimum number of hours in five instances, Tech offers its graduates a diploma which will be recognized nationally, it was said.

Following are the semester hours distribution required by the association for its approval and the corresponding number of hours offered at Tech:

Chemistry, 12-17 required, Tech offers 15; biology, 6-12, Tech 12; social sciences, 9-12, Tech 12; education, 3-6, Tech 12; foods, 6-8, Tech 6; nutrition and dietetics, 6-8, Tech 6; institution management, 6-12, Tech 9.

"Applicants for membership in the American Dietetic Association must present a bachelor's degree in foods and nutrition of institution management from an accredited college or university," Miss Hall stated in her letter to Miss Graham.

"Since Louisiana Polytechnic Institute is listed among the colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, credit earned from this school is acceptable," Miss Hall said.

TECH FINANCES TOPIC OF TALK

Dr. Rodney Cline Explains Conditions To Ruston Lions Club

RUSTON, Oct. 30.—(Special)—Discussion of Louisiana Tech's "predicament" resulting from the state's new financial system under provisions of the fiscal code featured a talk given before the Ruston Lions Club this week by Dr. Rodney Cline, dean of instruction at Tech.

"We feel it in our bones, perhaps our wish-bones, that some adjustments will be made in the financial arrangement with respect to the colleges," Dr. Cline said.

Emphasizing that his remarks were not intended to be "a political harangue but rather a presentation of facts which intelligent citizens should know," Dr. Cline said he was "not in any way attempting to tell you what you should do about this but I am glad to trust your judgment as to what should be done."

"It is my feeling that our governor and legislature have done and are doing their best to place the financial management of the state on a sound basis. It is no particular discredit to them that certain mistakes have been made but it will be a discredit to all of us if those mistakes are allowed to go unremedied," the speaker stated.

Illustrating what he implied by the term "mistakes," Dr. Cline referred to Tech's funds now required to be turned over to the state treasury at Baton Rouge and pointed out that "the college is not aided in any way by any successful efforts to make a profit on its athletic program, its dining hall or by any other means."

"By doing that which any good business enterprise attempts to do, namely, to build up a cash reserve for future uses, Tech had put aside nearly $50,000 during the past school session," Dr. Cline continued. "It was our thought that this money would be used for the installation of new equipment and for carrying on certain other additional items of work necessary to the operation of the college. We were required to send that money, along with other collected funds, to Baton Rouge and we received no credit for it. The new financial system works to the advantage of an institution with a decreased enrollment, because institutional allotments are based on expenditures for the preceding year. Tech, however, is a growing institution and the only state educational institution in Louisiana which this year has an increased enrollment, our present total being 2,126 four-year students. Therefore, we are penalized by the fact that our institution has been well run and thus made attractive to an increasing number of young people.

"A few words about conditions in one department will be sufficient to indicate the way in which the operation of the college is handicapped at present. The budgeted amount of money was expended in erecting our engineering building completed this year. Another budgeted amount of money, earmarked for the purpose, was used for purchasing machinery and other equipment necessary for the proper use of this building.

"A part of the nearly $50,000 saved out of last year's budget and which we were forced to send to Baton Rouge was to be used in installing the engineering equipment. The faculty and students of the school of engineering, generously aided by the buildings and grounds department, set to work to make those installations themselves, as far as possible. However, we have now reached a stalemate. There is machinery, vital to the operation of mechanical engineering classes, which cannot be installed by the regular buildings and grounds staff and which cannot be put up by the students. The machinery is just standing there idle and we are awaiting the time when money can be found somewhere to permit the installation.

"This, a vital phase of the instructional work is being held up, not because of poor business management but because the money saved at the college and put aside for that purpose was taken away from us under the terms of the new financial management. To me, that is particularly regrettable, because of our nation's present need for increased technical training of young men in national defense activities. It is my thought that for patriotic reasons, if for no other, the state of Louisiana should provide funds which are needed for the installation of this engineering equipment so our classes in mechanical engineering may go forward unhampered.

"Please understand that I am not making an appeal for additional school money for Tech at this time," Dr. Cline concluded. "I am seeking to point out the predicament in which we find ourselves because of the loss of funds which we had accumulated and which were taken away under provisions of the new fiscal code."

UNITED STATES ZOO, OWNED BY CITIZENS, MARKS 50TH YEAR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Your zoo, which has 175 acres, 2,500 animals and 100 specialists to care for them, is celebrating its 50th year, and getting along fine.

If you didn't know you had a zoo, it's the Washington zoo, established by act of congress and supported by federal taxes.

It now has more than $2,000,000 worth of equipment and livestock ranging in value up to $25,000 (the Indian rhinoceros) which eats 16,000 pounds of meat, among other things, every month.

Two million people visited the zoo last year. If you're ever in Washington, drop in. You're welcome. It's yours.
